Imam Hasan ibn 'Ali (al-Askari) (as)

The 11th Imam for Shia Muslims is Imam Hasan al-Askari(as). He was born around 846 CE in Medina and lived most of his life in Samarra, Iraq. He was a very wise man and was a leader for Shia Muslims during a difficult time.

His father was Imam Ali al-Hadi (the 10th Imam)

He was called "al-Askari" because he lived in an area called Askar in Samarra.

Imam Hasan al-Askari's life was not easy, but he helped guide Shia Muslims and keep them united

OUR TEETH

The 32 adult teeth replace the baby teeth between the ages of 6 and 20 years. By the age of 12, most children have all their adult teeth except for their third molars (wisdom teeth), which appear around 18-20 years.

In case your son needs reminding, here are the basic steps for brushing teeth:

1. Use a pea-sized amount of adult fluoride toothpaste.
2. Aim the toothbrush at a 45° angle towards the gum line. If you're using a manual toothbrush, move the brush in gentle circles. If you're using an electric toothbrush, move the brush gently across the teeth.
3. Start with the top teeth. Brush the outside surface of the top teeth and along the gum line, one tooth at a time. Then brush the inside surface of the teeth and gums, one tooth at a time.
4. Move to the bottom teeth and repeat the step above.
5. Brush along the chewing surfaces of the teeth.
6. Gently brush the tongue.
7. Brush for around 2 minutes.
8. Spit out the toothpaste as you clean. There's no need to rinse with water, though. Any leftover fluoride toothpaste helps to build strong, healthy teeth.

Electric and manual toothbrushes are equally good, as long as you use them properly to clean all the surfaces of all your child's teeth. Electric toothbrushes can be useful if your child has poor hand control. If you're deciding between a manual and an electric toothbrush, it's OK to let your child choose.

ALI MOSHREF

Hi, my name is Ali. Today, I will talk about distance education. I am not good at distance learning, but it is very beneficial. One advantage of distance learning is that no one can be absent anymore. Another advantage is that if someone wants to travel, they can attend classes online. On the other hand, one of the disadvantages of distance education is that the internet may be unreliable, or we may not have a phone with us, or the child may not pay attention to the lesson. Additionally, distance education can strain the eyes.

SALMAN ESMAEILZADEH

Distance education is not a good thing at all because the student is free while learning the lesson but some people think it's good because they can sleep eat and do whatever they want to do but it's damaging the minds of children but the only thing I like about it is that you don't have to go anywhere.

RADMAN AGHAZADEH

Homeschooling involves learning lessons at home. In the past, homeschooling involved having a private teacher. However, nowadays, the most common method of homeschooling is online classes. Online classes are simple and only require a smart gadget like a cell phone or tablet. The best part is that you can attend your classes from anywhere!

KASRA ESHGHI

In my opinion, homeschooling is a better way of school because you don't pay money and your teachers are your parents but the bad part is your parents need to know every school subject and you won't see your friends anymore.

MAHAN RAHMATI

In 2024, online classes have both advantages and disadvantages. They are beneficial for people who prefer to study alone and for those who are unwell but still want to attend class. Online classes can also be helpful for shy individuals. However, some students, like myself, find it challenging to stay engaged without face-to-face interaction with teachers and classmates. Another downside is the ease of cheating, while practical work may not be as effectively conducted online.
